

We're Restoring Edgewood...

Famous throughout the state for its rare plants and abundant floral diversity, Edgewood truly is an irreplaceable treasure. But all that beauty and diversity is constantly under attack by invasive, non-native plants... and that's where YOU can help!

You Can Too!!!

JOIN OUR HABITAT RESTORATION VOLUNTEERS!

The dedicated efforts of everyday folks like you are essential to restore and protect Edgewood... and volunteering is a great way to get outdoors, have fun, and learn more about what makes Edgewood so special!

- IMPORTANT NOTES -

- DON'T DO THIS ON YOUR OWN! Plant removal & going off trail require a permit (and only CNPS has one).
- Teens must each be accompanied by one of their own parents; unaccompanied adult students must have proof of age.
- Large groups should call ahead to make special arrangements.
- Sturdy gloves are recommended; you might also want: sunscreen, water, a hat, layered clothing, long sleeves/pants.
